At ten o'clock in the morning meeting will be held in the tabernacle, for which the following program has been prepared:

Song by the Choir.

Song, Primary children.

History of the Pioneers, Agnes Brown.

Quartette, Randall Jones and others.

Song, Helen Nelson and others.

Prayer by Chaplain.

The leading feature of the afternoon sports is the baseball game between Cedar and Beaver. Other events will be the thousand dollar fireworks display in the evening, a fireman's water fight, tug of war, racing, etc.

At two o'clock in the afternoon the men and women over sixty years and all widows and widowers are invited to gather at the tabernacle grounds, from whence they will be taken in cars to Enoch for a program in the cool shade and a luncheon. The invitation of the committee is printed in another column of The Record.

As on Independence Day, the evening will be given to a monster fireworks display, followed by a dance. The main pieces of the fire works exhibition are as follows:

"The European War."

"The Red Cross."

"Niagara Falls."

"Golden Harvest."

"Fountain of Light."

Together with a magnificent display of bombs, skyrockets, arenic displays, trench flares and other features.

The fireworks exhibition will be held at the fair grounds and will commence promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Joseph Prince of St. George has purchased the notorious buffalo bull that was ridden here last year in connection with the Carnival, and is trying to arrange to send him on an exhibition tour of southern Utah settlements the present summer and fall.

Park Westover, one of the two men who have succeeded in staying on the back of the buffalo for more than a few seconds, is game to ride the animal again, despite the fact that it is now fat and defiant. It is possible that Westover will take the animal on a rental basis and travel with it, giving exhibitions in the various towns.

So far no satisfactory arrangement has been made for an exhibition at Cedar City the amount asked by the "powers that be" for the use of the fair grounds and grand stand being prohibitive.

Don't forget about the big baseball game between Cedar City's crack nine and the Monroe invincibles, who have thus far defeated every team they have encountered. The game will be played at the Fair grounds July 21st.

Pries of admission 50c. and 25c. The Monroe squad is scheduled to play Minersville on the 19th, Milford on the 20th and Cedar on the 21st.

DR. CONDEMNS SPREAD OF COUGH

Public Safety Demands Prompt
Report and Strict Quarantine of Whooping Cough.

As many of us know the town is in the midst of quite an epidemic of whooping cough. It is very apparent, however, that some parents do not view the disease with the seriousness that its nature justifies, for there are families who have the disease, and who have had it, and who have not reported to the Board of Health nor the Quarantine Physician. Such parents do not take seriously enough their duty in a community, and do not realize that they are deliberately jeopardizing the lives of their neighbors' children. People who thoughtlessly let such a contagion run unreported need a stirring-up of their civic conscience, and people who do it deliberately have no right to live in a community.

Three children have already died of the disease within the last few months in our town, and if the disease runs into the winter more of the little ones will be taken. If the present flagrant carelessness on the part of parents continues, somebody will have to be held responsible for the needless sacrifice of somebody's baby. It is a well known fact among physicians that none of the children's diseases cause so many deaths in children under 18 months of age as whooping cough; and no parent who has had experience with it but who dreads it as they dread no other disease. Why parents should ignore these facts to avoid quarantine is beyond comprehension.

In the absence of the quarantine physician I take this liberty of calling the attention of the people and the Board of Health to this condition, feeling sure that with the co-operation of parents this epidemic can be stamped out before the winter months come. In talking with the chairman of the Board of Health, Mayor Swapp, I am assured that the Board will use every means at hand to control the epidemic, and that where parents persistently refuse to report cases of the disease or suspicious cases of illness, they will not hesitate to prosecute the guilty.

Let us, as good citizens, get together on this and see that every case is placed under quarantine before it has a chance to spread and take more of the lives of our babies.

IRON COUNTY MEN URGE ROAD WORK

County Commissioners H. W. Lunt and William Lund left for Salt Lake City Monday night to wait upon the State Road Commission in the interests of the third section of the Cedar City Long Valley road project, on which the federal government, the state and Iron county are cooperating.

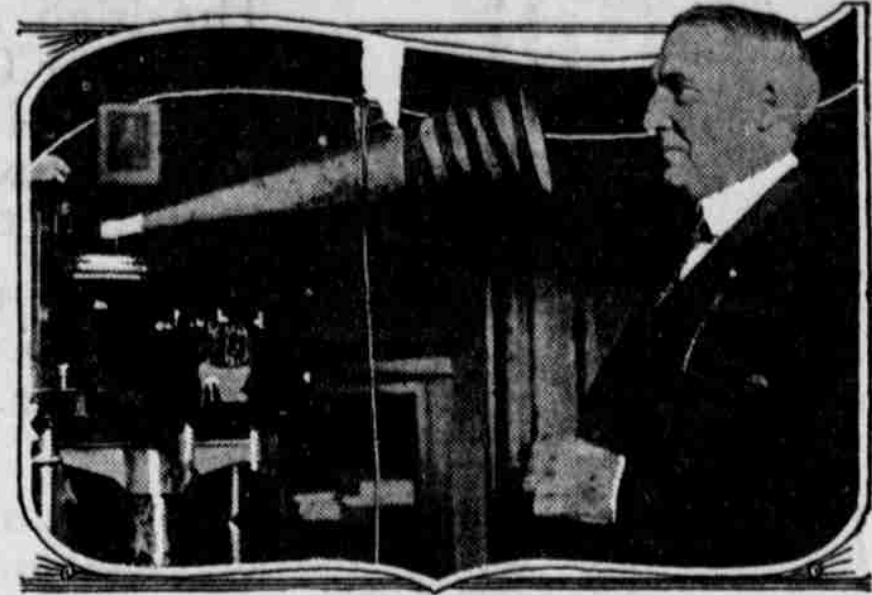

Good progress is being made on sections one and two, which will soon be completed making the road good for automobile travel through the gulch into the upper reaches of the canyon. It would, indeed, be a sin and a shame to leave off the work at this point when by pushing on a few miles further in a far easier country to build a good road through, the top can be reached, giving a good road for inter-county travel releasing large large tracts of lumber so much needed in the development of the southern country, and making accessible to the tourist the wonderful scenic beauties of the Cedar Breaks, and to local people the pleasant summer haunts and fish-stocked streams of the Mammoth and other sections in the high altitudes.

Besides Senator U. T. Jones and County Commissioners H. W. Lunt and William Lund, the delegates to the State Road Commission from this county including C. H. Bigelow and Randall L. Jones. These men met with the State officials to urge on them the need of completing at once the third section of the Cedar-Long-valley road.

There is no section of road in the state more needed than this, and we certainly trust that a plan can be worked out by the County and State Road Commissioners for its early completion.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the concrete road from Lund to Cedar City, the only factor that limits progress being the need of men and teams. Four dollars a day for men and the same for teams is offered by the company, and sections of the road are being sub-contracted to those who prefer that arrangement.

HARDING "CANS" FIRST SPEECH OF CAMPAIGN

Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee, delivers his first campaign address into a phonograph. With an audience of one individual, the operator of the machine, the senator makes his initial speech on "Americanism," which will be distributed throughout the country. An address by Calvin Coolidge, vice presidential nominee, appears on the reverse side.

BOY SCOUTS THANK CITIZENS OF CEDAR

Praise Efforts of Their Cedar City
Entertainers, and Express Appreciation of Citizenry.

(By Harold H. Jensen)
Caravan Correspondent

Through the courtesy of the Iron County Record, Salt Lake's Boy Scout Caravan wishes to express appreciation for the splendid reception accorded the party in Cedar City last Tuesday. Every member of the Caravan wishes to thank all those who in any way helped entertain. The meal served came at the opportune moment after a hard day's drive and the band acted as an appetizer.

D. E. Hammond, Salt Lake's Boy Scout Executive, who leads the party, Dr. John H. Taylor, Assistant, Dr. George Wharton James, noted author from Pasadena, California, Dr. Joshua H. Paul, and Dr. C. G. Plummer of Salt Lake, as well as the thirty scout leaders, are united in the opinion that Cedar City staged one of the finest receptions on the trip. The 170 Boy Scouts also enjoyed themselves.

The future of Iron County's largest city looks bright. With tourist travel to Utah's wonderland increasing, preparations should be made now to take care of it. The southern part of the state has a wonderful opportunity and must take advantage of it in keeping with "See Utah First."

In saying adieu we wish personally to thank Mayor Swapp and all those who assisted, and state we enjoyed every moment including the outdoor program and dance in the college building.

BEARS TROUCE BEARCATS EASILY

The Wednesday half-holiday was devoted to a baseball game between two local teams calling themselves the "Bears" and the "Bearcats." The "Bears" easily took the game with a score of 15 to 2. The lineup was as follows:

Bears		Bearcats
Rosenberg	C.	P. Wilkinson
Hunter	P.	Ross
Leigh	1b.	Sargent
Root	2b.	Forbes
Watson	3b.	Nelson
Green	S.S.	Ivins
C. Wilkinson	L.F.	Stapley
Milne	R.F.	Fife
Davis	C. F.	Wood

Pratt Root of Milford, manager of the Milford baseball team, umpired the game. The Bears had matters pretty much in their own hands, but received a surprise in the fifth innings when Ross struck out Wilkinson, Milne and Davis all in a row. In the seventh Nelson replaced Ross, but took all that innings to warm up. After that he pitched good ball. No home runs were batted, but Watson

COMMITTEE STUDIES INTERPARK ROUTE

Forest Supervisor Mace went over the road between Hurricane and the Kaibab Indian Reservation on the 10th inst, as a member of the committee appointed at the recent road convention for that work. The committee comprised, besides the supervisor, W. W. Seegmiller of Kanab, chairman; C. B. Petty, J. W. Imlay and James Judd of Hurricane, and C. H. Bigelow. Mr. Bigelow, however, was unable to attend the inspection.

The committee went over two routes, one by way of Rattlesnake, the other by way of Antelope spring. The latter road, which is on much firmer soil than is most of the former route, was found to be only two miles longer than the road first followed. Considering only the problem of linking the two great national parks at lowest possible cost, the Antelope road has many advantages over the Short Creek or Rattlesnake route. But the Short Creek way would serve more communities. In summing up their conclusions, the committee is of the opinion that it lies entirely with the Short Creek farmers to say whether they will furnish right-of-way for the road through their farms for the sake of enjoying its use, or will let it be built around by way of Antelope, where there are no farms in the way?

Dr. Rufus Leigh returned this week from an extended absence in Salt Lake City. While away Dr. Leigh took advantage of a post-graduate course given under the direction of the Utah State Dental Society, the subjects covered were anesthesia, oral surgery and removable bridgework; the teachers were men of national reputation in these specialties. Dr. Leigh is a member of the State Board of Dental Examiners and helped conduct the examination of applicants for license to practice dentistry in Utah.

Mrs. John C. Carpenter is in Glendale with her mother, Mrs. N. J. Levanger, having received word Monday that Mr. Levanger was seriously ill.

SCOUT CARAVAN CAMPS IN CEDAR

Campfire Program is Followed by Dance at College in Honor of The Young Visitors.

TWO HUNDRED SCOUTS FORM IMPRESSIVE LINE

Lads Express Awe and Admiration for Wonderful Zion Canyon and Credit Committee With Abundant Friendly Hospitality.

The Salt Lake Scout Caravan came and has gone. More than two hundred strong, the invaders from the metropolis swept into our city Tuesday evening, took the mayor prisoner, dictated terms to the city council, requisitioned ham sandwiches, baked beans, cheese, pickles and ice cream ad lib, and settled down to a joyous celebration of their victory.

Their camp was pitched on the B. A. C. campus, where the Relief Society, assisted by the beekeepers of the Cedar swarms of Beehive girls and the local scouts, had spread a meal for the visitors. The army was hungry. They had cooked their own breakfast that morning. Whether or not they had eaten what they cooked, they did not say. hen, too, they had had a long, hard, utterly delightful day. It was considered good military strategy for the scout who had finished his plateful of fodder to hide the plate, brush the crumbs off his more or less sunburnt chin and line up with a brand new appetite for another helping.

It did the motherly Relief Society ladies' hearts good to note the popularity of their eatables. For, womanlike, they laid it all to the superior cooking. So everybody was happy, for the visitors were as welcome as they were hungry and tired. The music furnished by the local band was no little help toward the pleasure of the occasion.

The admirable behavior of the boys, their prompt, soldierlike response to bugle calls, and general air of courtesy and fellowship won the unbounded praise of all who met and mingled with them. Perhaps the two ends of the state of Utah have never before been so close together in spirit and understanding as they were at that hour. The boy scouts of Salt Lake are an honor to their organization and to their city, and it was a privilege and a pleasure to meet them and cheer them on their way. Not a little admiration is due them for the gameness with which they endured the unaccustomed hardships of camp life.

After the meal a short program was given. Mayor Swapp spoke briefly on behalf of Cedar and there were talks by Scout Leaders Taylor, Hammond, and Mathews, and by the noted Californian, Dr. George Wharton James, who among many other things has written what is probably the most vivid, truthful and nearly adequate description of the Grand canyon of the Colorado that has been penned, to date.

Probably the most popular feature of the closing program was the singing of, "There's a Long, Long Trail A-Winding", "When the Boys Come Home", and "Keep the Home Fires Burning" by a Chorus of the leaders of the visiting scouts.

After the brief program a dance was given in honor of the visitors in the college building, where the young and those who felt young enjoyed the evening together.

Through the courtesy of the College organization, the B. A. C. lavatories were at the disposal of the camp and all possible was done for the comfort and convenience of the guests.

Next morning the caravan lined up on Main street, where a moving picture was taken of the departure from town. Hundreds of interested spectators watched the long line get under way for its run into Zion National Park.

The advance guard of the Scout caravan was composed mainly of representatives of the Salt Lake dailies. Herb Weston was the Herald writer, Donald McKay represented the Tribune, Harold H. Jensen the Deseret News, and Art Winton the Telegram. An interesting figure in the lineup was W. D. Rischel, better known as Bill, whose indelible smile is known and welcomed on every highway and many a byway of the intermountain country.

On their return from Zion Canyon and Saint George today, the members of the big Scout caravan expressed themselves as greatly im-
